Seven Killed in Traffic Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Seven persons were killed in Arkansas traffic accidents Wednesday, all in separate mishaps.

The number exceeds that recorded on many weekends when The Associated Press tabulates all traffic fatalities for a 54-hour period.

Two teen-agers and three persons in their 20s were among those killed.

July Bly, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Clarence Bly of Ola in Yell County, was killed when she was struck by a hit and run driver on Arkansas 7 about one-half mile north of Ola.

State Police said Miss Bly and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donna Bly, 17, were walking along the side of the highway when the incident occurred.

Officers quoted two youths riding a farm tractor as saying the car returned to the scene after striking the girl and then sped away again. The youths told officers the car had out-of-state license tags.

Police said a Hot Springs youth, Carl David Dickey, 19, died when his 1935 model car struck a dog and overturned several times on Arkansas 7 about one-half mile east of Hot Springs. Police said Dickey was drag racing when the accident happened.

A North Carolina man was killed and his twin brother injured when the tractor-trailer truck they were in left U. S. 82 about two miles east of El Dorado and struck a tree.

State Police said Robert Randolph Hartsoe, 23, of Newton, N. C., driver of the truck, was killed and Eddie Hartsoe injured. The accident occurred when the Hartsoe truck's trailer struck the trailer of a truck driven by Jerry M. Tanner, 28, of El Dorado.

Officers said Tanner had stopped and was getting ready to make a left turn when the Hartsoe truck approached from the opposite direction. Police said Hartsoe apparently hit his brakes and skidded into the other vehicle.

Steven C. Wagner, 20, of Little Rock was killed when his car overturned on Arkansas 10 in the city limits of Little Rock.

Mrs. Maxine Clark, 50, of Weiner drowned when her car plunged off a bridge into a ditch containing three feet of water. The accident occurred on a county road one mile south of Jonesboro.

Charles Donnell, 29, of Pine Bluff was found dead in his pickup truck in a ditch two miles east of Wright in Jefferson County. Officers said the truck had struck a bridge and skidded 150 feet into the ditch. Dock Gann, 66, of Lavaca, was killed when his pickup truck collided head-on with another pickup truck on Arkansas 22 about five miles east of Barling in Sebastian County.

Violence in NFO Milk Price Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Dynamite blasts, rifle fire, marches, dumpings, milk baths and washing cars with milk highlighted efforts of a week-long campaign by the National Farmers Organization to raise the price of milk.

Despite violence and the shenanigans, including farmers' wives bathing in milk, there was no significant evidence of price hikes or milk shortages in affected areas.

In some instances, the NFO bought up supplies of milk in supermarkets, then gave the milk away with declarations that "we'd rather give it away than sell it."

Reports from around the country indicated the NFO would step up its attempts to get a two cent per quart price increase.

Milk was being dumped on a grand scale throughout the country. The top figure was 21 tons dumped at Adams near Watertown, N.Y.

At Chapel Hill, Tenn., an explosion wrecked a 33,000-gallon milk tanker which was parked empty. A bullet from a high-powered rifle punctured a 4,000-gallon tanker en route from Lafayette to Nashville with milk.

Farmers, their wives and children marched on the state house in Trenton, N.J. All seemed assured the march would have some effect on consumers.

"You can't throw a million gallons down the drain a day and say you're not affected," a farmer shouted from the steps of the New Jersey Capitol.

Declares 300 NATO Workers in Spy Ring

By EDOARDO MAGRI
ROME (AP) — An Italian parastatist has reportedly told authorities that 300 employees of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were involved in a Soviet spy ring being established at every NATO base in Europe.

Those involved were said to be civilians and military personnel from a number of nations, including the United States.

The civilian parastatist, Giorgio Rinaldi, and his wife, Angela Maria, were questioned for more than three hours in Turin Wednesday by a deputy state attorney, Guido Netti-Modona. They were formally charged earlier in the day with spying for the Soviet Union.

A source present at the questioning said authorities were believed to have arrested suspects in Greece, Cyprus, Switzerland and Spain.

Netti-Modona and an Italian defense ministry spokesman declined to comment.

The informant said the espionage organization focused on NATO bases mostly in southern Europe and the Mediterranean. He said it was not believed to have been far along in development.

Fight to Save Rare Dolphin

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A touch and go effort to save the life of a rare dolphin is being waged by officials of an oceanarium and San Diego State College.

The dolphin is reported to be the first of the rare Grampus Griseus, or Risso's dolphin, to be captured in the eastern Pacific. The 11-foot-long mammal weighs 850 pounds.

It was rescued Tuesday from a nearby beach which authorities said the animal probably approached to die of an intestinal disorder.

Dr. David W. Kenney of the Sea World Oceanarium said he knows of only one other such dolphin in captivity.

U.S. Pacifists Taking Enemy Medicine

HONG KONG (AP) — Seven American Quaker Pacifists and a television producer sailed for Communist North Vietnam with medical supplies today despite a State Department warning that their trip was illegal.

Phillip Drath, San Rafael, Calif., told newsmen the 50-foot yacht Phoenix was carrying $10,000 worth of medical supplies as "a gift to civilian victims of the American bombing of North Vietnam."

Dr. Earle Reynolds, skipper-owner of the Phoenix, said the party had "every confidence we will reach Haiphong. We have received two cables from North Vietnam that we will be welcomed."

Accompanying the group was Richard Faun, a New York-born Canadian who is producing a television documentary of the voyage for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., and William Heick, a San Francisco television cameraman associated with Faun.

The party also includes Horace Champney, Yellow Springs, Ohio; Robert Eaton, Philadelphia; Betty Boardman, Madison, Wis., and Ivan Massar, Boston.

GUIDANCE ON FOOD

NORTH EASTON, Mass. (AP) — Brother Herman E. Zaccarelli, director of the Food Research Center for Catholic Institutions here, says it will open a specialized library this fall on food service, providing resources for church food-handling personnel on budgeting, food management and preparation.

ACADEMIC IMPROVEMENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proportion of Lutheran seminary and college professors with earned doctor's degrees has increased from 40 per cent in 1960 to 57.1 per cent at present, an educational survey shows.

GIRLS STATE DELEGATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Girls State delegates for 1967 were announced at a meeting of Leslie Huddleston Unit 12, American Legion Auxiliary, on Tuesday, March 21 in the home of Mrs. H. O. Kyler.

The 10 girls named are: Charlotte Moore, Jenny Tolleson, Rachel Batson, Martha Bader, Carol Anthony, Twila Hunt, Ellen Turner, Debbie Watson, Cathy Field, and Sally Booth. Unit President, Mrs. E. S. Franklin, reported on a district meeting she had attended in Ashdown March 12, and Child Welfare chairman, Mrs. E. P. O'Neal gave news of her work. Japonica, Irises, and Easter eggs made an attractive focal point of interest in the Kyler home. Hot spiced punch and cookies were served for refreshments.

TINA AMBASSADOR CLASS MEETS

The Tina Ambassador Class of Garrett Memorial Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Bryant Clark. Mrs. Charles McCorkle was co-hostess. Mrs. Odel Luck voiced opening prayer. Mrs. Joe Harmon presided over the business meeting.

Mr. Alfred Bearden had charge of the program. The group sang "Christ Arose", and Mrs. Bearden gave the devotional from the 28th chapter of Matthew. The theme was "Christian Women at the Empty Tomb."

Mrs. Ivy Mitchell and Mrs. Ted Purdie sang, "He lives on High." Mrs. Johnson closed the meeting with prayer. After a social hour of games and fellowship a delicious dessert plate was served to 16 members and one guest Mrs. Shirley Jackson.

Even with mini-skirts girls like to know when their slips are showing.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. AND MRS. TOMMY BURKHART

The First Methodist Church of Brownfield, Texas was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sharon Renee Rearden to Mr. Tommy Olan Burkhardt, on January 20th at 7 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rearden of Brownfield, and formerly of Hope. The groom is the son of Mrs. Charles Slayton and the late Mr. Sterling Burkhardt of Lubbock, Texas. The Rev. Alby J. Cockrell performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride looked beautiful in a formal gown of white beaugansja with a pointed waist extending low at the front and back and long tapered sleeves, a softly rounded neckline, and fitted bodice. The full skirt and train were accented with appliques of pearls and white iridescent sequins and buttons. The back extended to a bow at the waist to which the train was attached. The bride's halo pillbox of matching material featured a large bow and held the elbow length veil of illusion. The bride chose as her mat-

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The place names, after only a generation, seem remote and surrounded by a feeling of history and misty glory — Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima, Tarawa, Okinawa. But Tuesday night's "Our Time in Hell," about Marine Corps assaults on those islands in World War II made history as contemporary as today's fighting in Vietnam.

The ABC special was pulled together from a variety of sources including some remarkable color film shot during combat, black and white film, still photographs and even illustrations. It made a grim, vivid diary of war.

We saw brave young Americans tossing grenades at Japanese pillboxes, crawling across open stretches of beaches while raked by fire from the enemy above. We saw the wounded and the dying. And the addition of color made war seem less glorious and more painful.

Some of the most shocking scenes showed the Japanese choosing death to surrender. Film made in Japan showed Japanese civilians, following orders for mass suicide, throwing children from high cliffs into the sea, then leap after them.

The program, a tribute to the Marines, was the work of Laurence E. Mascott whose "Brave Rifles" earlier this season was a combat log of the Battle of the Bulge and a tribute to infantrymen. As in the first program, Mascott described some of the exploits of particular fighting men, naming names and flashing their pictures on the screen. Most of them were winners of the Medal of Honor — posthumously awarded.

The writing occasionally seemed on the florid side which was unnecessary since the pictures and film alone were dramatic and specific enough. Lee Marvin, a former Marine who served in the Pacific, narrated with effective understatement.

CBS has plans for a second edition of its well-received "S. Hurk Presents" special for next season and has assurances that pianist Artur Schnabel will participate. The agreement provides that the 80-year-old virtuoso may play whatever he chooses — he has chosen Chopin — for as long as he wishes without interruption. That portion of the program will be taped in Paris where Rubenstein lives.

NBC's plans for a special edition of "Meet the Press" on April 2 has run into troubles. It was arranged that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey would be interviewed in Washington via communications satellite by five foreign journalists in London. That has been knocked out by the vice president's upcoming European trip, so now NBC hopes to get all participants together in some foreign capital and beam the interview across the Atlantic.

Sebastian Cabot, out of CBS' "Family Affair" because of ulcer trouble, returns to his role in the April 10 episode. During his absence his function as family factotum has been taken by John Williams.

"Blue Sky Law" The blue sky law is a term popularly applied to statutes and regulations in almost all the states to protect purchasers of stocks and bonds from fraud, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Clay Keeps Title With Knockout

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay has finished off the last of a list of fighters who could be called "with kindness" — contenders with his seventh-round knockout of Zora Folley.

Argentina's Oscar Bonavena will be the next sacrificial lamb for the super-fast, invincible champion. The match will be in Tokyo, May 27, unless Clay's legal appeal for a stay from Army induction April 11 is rejected.

Folley, the 34-year-old, No. 1 contender, was knocked out when the supremely confident Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers, decided he wanted to pull the trigger on Wednesday night.

The end came at 1:48 of the seventh round from a chopping right to the jaw. Another right had dropped the bloody-nosed veteran for nine in the fourth round.

These were the highlight rounds of a bout that became one-sided when Clay decided the time had become ripe to open up in the third round. Before that he danced around the ring, virtually conceding the first two rounds to the plodding, methodical challenger.

Bonavena, a 24-year-old, crude, muscular swinger, who was virtually blanked in 10 rounds by Folley nearly 13 months ago in Madison Square Garden. His greatest defensive skill is blocking left jabs with his head.

Folley was a prohibitive 7-1 long shot for his first shot at the title. What odds against Oscar? 100 to 1?

"There is no one around today who can beat him," said Folley in an interview in the Garden's basement after the fight. "I know, I've fought them all."

"All I remember of the end of the fight was a right — right on the chin. After that I just don't remember."

Clay heatedly denied, in answer to a question, that he had carried Folley.

"I was not carrying him," he said. "He was a better fighter than Sonny Liston, or Floyd Patterson or Ernie Terrell."

He was slick, tricky and a good boxer. Folley's greatest moment came after he was floored in the fourth round. A left-right combination to the jaw dropped him on his face. He sat up with a startled look at the five-count and was up at nine.

Brewer to Defend Title at Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Defending champion Gay Brewer leads a field of 144 pros into the $75,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament today on the 6,419-yard, par-72 Pensacola Country Club course.

Top money in the 72-hole tournament is $15,000.

Tour tournament winners for 1967 in the field are two-time winner Julius Boros (Phoenix Open and Citrus Open), Jack Coalby (San Diego Open), Jack Nicklaus (Bing Crosby National) and Dan Sikes (Jacksonville Open) and Doug Sanders (Doral Open).

Sanders is returning to the scene of the tournament in which he blew his chances last year of becoming the first repeat Pensacola winner.

The Cedarhurst, Ga., native was disqualified after 36-holes last year for failure to sign his score card. At the time, Sanders had shaved 14 strokes off par for a 130 and a four-stroke lead over Brewer.

Missing from the field are Arnold Palmer, Tom Nieporte and Billy Casper, last year's leading money winner.

Brewer outlasted a late surge by Bruce Devlin last year to win by three strokes. It was Brewer's lone victory of the year and sparked him to a $75,687 year, his best since turning professional.

Frank Beard was low pro today at 64 in a pro-amateur event, collecting $350 for his six-under-par performance.

Onaway, a 5-year-old par 3 owned by R.R. Driscoll of Hattiesburg, N.S., won 41 names from 89 starts last year.

Clay Declares Anchor Punch Just Publicity

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, or Muhammad Ali if you prefer, compared the punch that put away Zora Folley Wednesday night with the one that did in Sonny Liston in the first round of their return match at Lewiston, Maine, in May, 1965.

"In a way it was the same punch," said Clay, who dropped the 34-year-old challenger for good at 1:48 of the seventh round.

Then Clay shrugged off suggestions of an anchor punch — the term applied to the blow that took Liston out in the first round of their bout.

"There is no anchor punch," the champion said. "That was just a publicity stunt."

Folley, who seemed to be carrying the fight to Clay before being knocked out, said he remembered getting hit before going down.

"All I remember," Folley said, "was a right — right on the chin. After that, I just don't remember."

Clay toyed with reporters in a joint dressing room press conference, in which he shared a raised platform and microphone with Folley.

"What was the knockout punch," one reporter asked. "I don't have a punch," countered Clay, teasing his critics. "Just couple of lucky right hands."

Clay said Folley was one of his better opponents. "He's better than Liston, Floyd Patterson and Ernie Terrell. He hurt me quite a few times to the body. But I was smart and clever," the champion said.

"I fought well," said Folley, a veteran of 18 years in the ring. "I gave it all I had. He was just a better fighter."

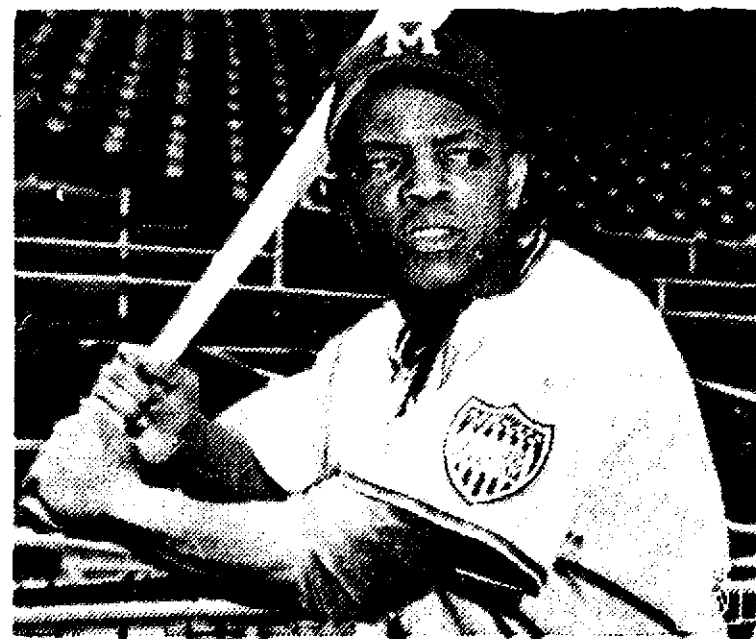

Folley did well in the early rounds and at one point, when Clay danced around the ring with his guard down, the champion's manager, Herbert Muhammad, became alarmed.

"He said I should quit playing with my hands down," said Clay. "I said I wasn't playing, but just feeling him out. He was slick, tricky and a good boxer."

Folley said he would continue fighting. "I think I can beat anybody around but Clay," he said. Then he added that he didn't think there was any heavyweight around who could take the title away from the champion.

"And I've fought all the contenders," the challenger added. Clay's next fight appears to be with Uncle Sam. He is scheduled for induction into the Army April 11.

"We have an agreement to fight Oscar Bonavena in Tokyo May 27," said Herbert Muhammad. "There are some ifs though."

AND THIS IS HOW Willie Mays looked when it all began, as a sensational 1951 performer at Minneapolis, where a .477 average the first month earned him a quick promotion to the Giants.

4-AA Cage District Expanded

The expanding Div. 4AA athletic association basketball coaches got together and completed a temporary one year schedule calling for the dividing of the league into East and West sections and a post tournament for the 1967-68 season.

The experimental plan, which will have to be altered the following year on the expected addition of Monticello, calls for each division to have six teams. Each team will play ten games in their division (home and home) plus two teams from the other division (home and home), for a 14-game total. Intra-league games will also count in the team standings. Division games start on Jan. 26th., with intra-league games played prior to that date.

The post season tourney will be played the week before the State Class AA tourney and will include all 12 teams. The first and second place team from each division will be seeded. This plan was approved because of the early need of hiring officials and the filling in of other teams (non-conf.) to complete the early part of the schedule. This plan was the only one of four submitted to receive approval.

The East division will be composed of Camden, Crossett, Magnolia, Smackover, Warren and Washington of El Dorado.

The West division will be composed of Fairview, Washington of Texarkana, Hope, Lincoln of Camden, Arkadelphia and Malvern.

A committee of Div. 4AA officials is presently studying plans for the 1968 football season.

Olympic Training in High Altitude

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP) — Meet Buddy Edelen, militant spokesman for the little community of Alamosa as a training site for Olympic athletes, especially distance runners.

Edelen has set American records for distances ranging from seven miles to the classic marathon measurement of 26 miles, 385 yards.

He says Alamosa, with its 7,544-foot altitude in south-central Colorado's San Luis Valley, is a fine spot in which to train for the next Olympic Games at Mexico City in October 1968.

Alamosa, walled on three sides by snow-tipped peaks, is about 200 feet higher than the Mexican capital.

Edelen, who keeps running every day that weather allows despite acute pain from a ruptured spinal disc, came to Alamosa in September two years ago.

He now teaches psychology classes at Adams State College, which has offered its facilities for training purposes if the International Olympic Committee approves.

If approval is granted, Edelen will become full-time coordinator for the Alamosa project at $8,000 a year.

Edelen said he came here to determine for himself if long-distance runners could compete successfully at altitudes above 7,000 feet.

He said an IOC ruling says that high-altitude training should not exceed four weeks in the last three months before the Olympics open. Not long enough, Buddy said.

"I feel that the minimum training period will have to be at least 12 weeks," he said.

Grand Sight for Fans at Baltimore

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Frankly speaking they were grand sights for Baltimore fans — those two balls soaring over the fence at Sarasota, Fla.

They were the first home runs of the exhibition season for Frank Robinson, and they came on consecutive times at bat Wednesday in the Orioles' 5-4, 10-inning victory over Chicago. Robinson, who has been quietly rounding into shape since undergoing knee surgery during the off season, only played four innings, but it was long enough to give opposing American League pitchers an early start toward a good case of the jitters.

Chicago tied the game at 4-4 on rookie Bill Voss' two-run single in the eighth, and then Baltimore won it on two wild pitches by Danny Lazar and Dave Johnson's single.

Two players St. Louis is counting heavily on had a big day in the Cardinal' 7-2 victory over the New York Mets at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Roger Maris got three singles and a double and scored four times, and Orlando Cepeda collected a single, double and two-run homer. Maris had collected only four hits in 10 previous exhibition games. Ron Swoboda hit a two-run homer for the Mets.

In other games, Cincinnati outslugged Philadelphia 10-6, Houston edged Atlanta 4-3, Pittsburgh nipped Kansas City 2-1, Boston downed the New York Yankees 5-2, Washington topped Detroit 6-4, Los Angeles trounced Minnesota 15-2, California defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 and Cleveland walloped San Francisco 14-5.

Vada Pinson and Lee May paced Cincinnati's 16-hit attack at Tampa, Fla., with home runs. Philadelphia managed only three hits — doubles by Tony Gonzalez and Grant Jackson and Johnny Callison's homer.

Meanwhile, at the Phillies' camp at Clearwater, Fla., owner Bob Carpenter announced that Manager Gene Mauch's contract has been extended through 1968.

Norm Miller's two-out, two-strike homer in the last of the ninth lifted Houston past Atlanta at Cocoa, Fla. John Hoffman hit a two-run homer for Atlanta.

Bill Mazeroski singled home both Pittsburgh runs, the second one in the top of the ninth, in the Pirates' victory over Kansas City. The A's scored off Dennis Ribant, who pitched the first five innings. Jim Shellenback worked the last four for the Pirates.

Jim Bouton was touched for two-run homers by Carl Yastrzemski and Rico Petrocelli in the third inning in Boston's defeat of the Yankees at Winter Haven, Fla. Mickey Mantle left the game in the third inning with a slight pull of the left hamstring muscle.

Frank Howard keyed Washington's triumph over Detroit at Pompano Beach, Fla., by driving home three runs with a double and homer. Bill Freehan hit a two-run homer for Detroit.

Los Angeles cut loose for 19 hits in its rout of Minnesota at Vero Beach, Fla. Ron Fairly led the way with a single and triple for three RBIs. Wes Parker, Jim Hickman and Jeff Torborg each batted in two runs.

At Palm Springs, Calif., Paul Schall and Jim Fregosi hit bases-empty homers in the first inning off the Cubs Ferguson Jenkins. Jay Johnstone singled home what proved to be the Angels' winning run in the sixth inning.

Cleveland used 15 hits and seven San Francisco errors to blast the Giants at Phoenix, Ariz. Rocky Colavito drove in three runs, including two with a homer, for the Indians.

The New York Yankees are counting on a relief pitching staff featuring Steve Hamilton, Hal Reniff and Dooley Womack. They were 18-13 last season, working a combined 260 innings.

NCAA Irked by the Bear Bryant Series

ATLANTA (AP) — A letter of caution will be sent to every major college football coach in America as a result of a controversial series written in Sports Illustrated last summer by Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, an NCAA spokesman reported.

Dick Colman, head coach at Princeton who heads the NCAA Ethics Committee, told the Atlanta Constitution by telephone Wednesday night that no punitive action was taken against Bryant "even though we did feel there were some unfortunate statements made in the article."

In the series, Bryant said that in past years some players on his teams were "paid," but that since coming to Alabama in 1958 there has been no violation of the rules.

"If I were a young coach starting out," Bryant wrote, "I might give in, but I'm not going to do it now. I don't have to, and if I had to I wouldn't."

"That was the one part that stuck in our craw," Colman said. "We felt a little sick about it. But when you read that series in toto, you cannot conceive of this man advocating cheating or anything approaching it."

Colman said the letter of warning will be sent out shortly to some 2,000 coaches coast-to-coast. It will urge that they "stress the valuable and important aspects of football and urge that they be every careful in dealings with the press."

This Is Story of Hard Luck Ball Player

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gary Geiger, Atlanta outfielder who's had more problems than a floor full of Mayo Clinic patients, is healthy again. Today, yes. Tomorrow, who knows?

"I feel fine so far," said Geiger, who will be 30 April 4. "I don't expect any troubles this year, but I never expected any trouble any year."

"I still don't like to fly. That probably was the biggest part of my ulcer trouble."

Ulcer trouble? Yes, but why not start at the beginning. Geiger was a young outfielder who showed promise of making it big with the Boston Red Sox in 1960 until one day in July when he suffered a collapsed lung.

"My chest started hurting just before I went to the park for our game," Geiger recalled. "They sent me for X rays, and the doctor discovered that a lung was 80 per cent flat. They put a tube in my chest and built the lung back up."

Geiger came back amazingly the next season, and that year and the next were relatively uneventful. Then came 1963 and the ulcers.

"They bled twice, and I had to have some transfusions," the outfielder said. "I was in and out of the hospital."

That problem reached a climax just before spring training in 1964, and Geiger underwent surgery to correct the situation. "I was in the hospital 21 days," he said, "and I lost about 30 pounds. When I came out, I weighed about 135 pounds. I played five games with Boston at the beginning of the season, but I was too weak to continue and went home."

He was there the rest of the season. The 1965 season came, and Geiger figured he had recovered fully and was in good shape. But playing in only his 24th game, he dived for a ball in the outfield and came up with a broken left hand. End of season.

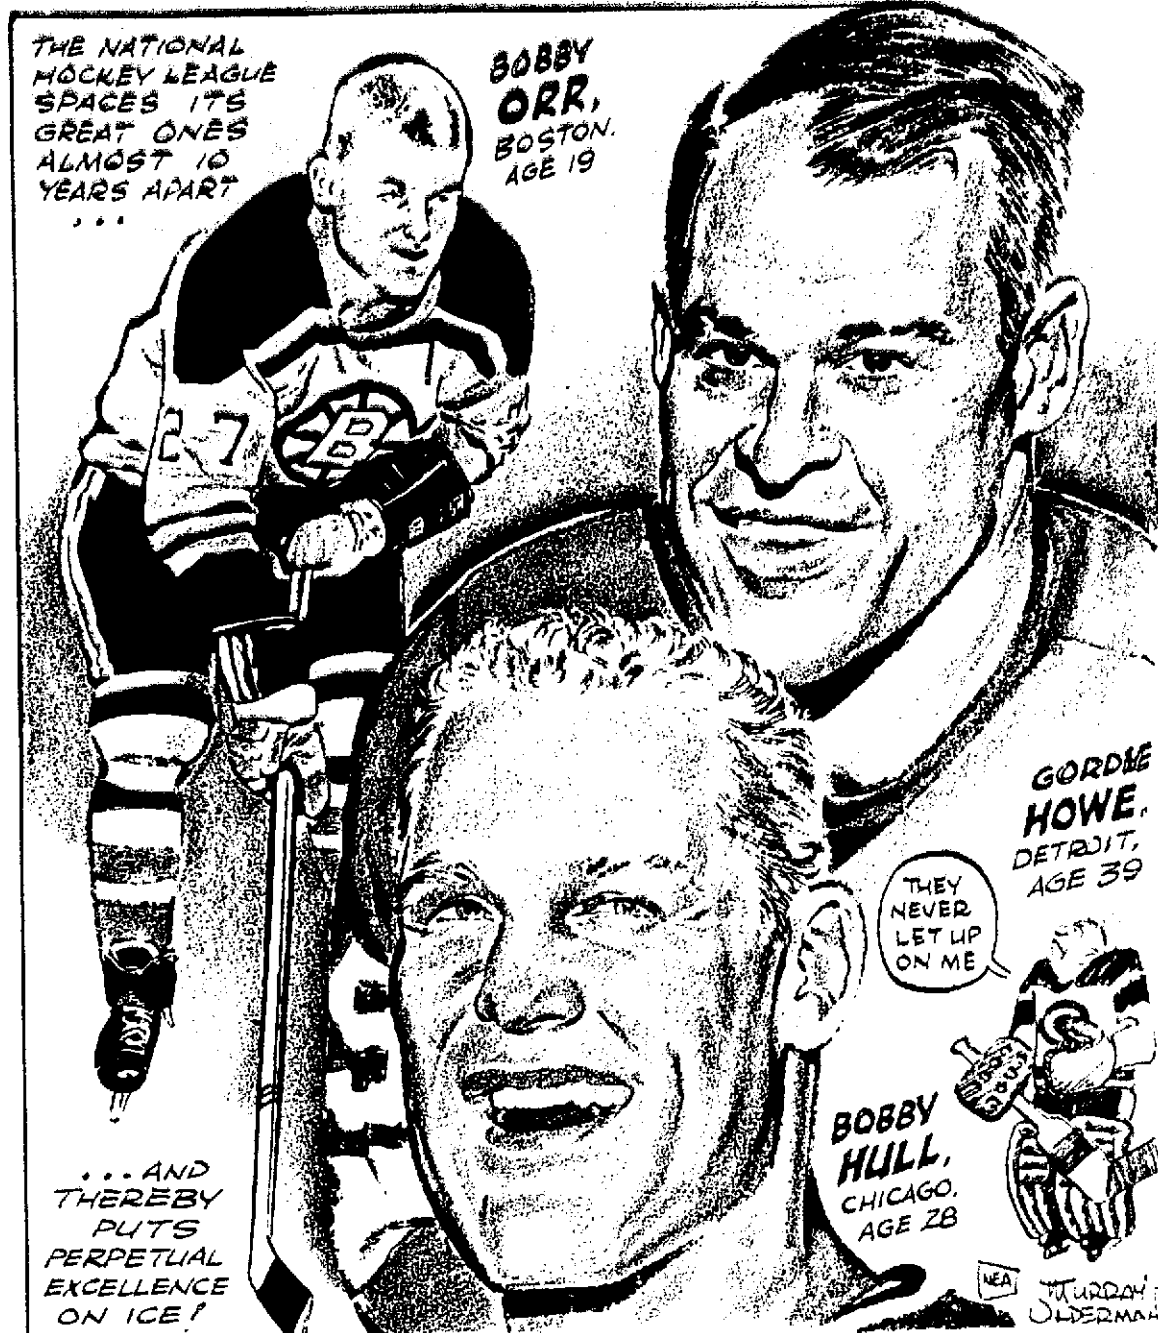

End of career with the Red Sox, too. The Braves drafted him, but that didn't change his fortunes. He made it in good health until last Sept. 9 when a trunk lid dropped on his hand in a New York hotel and cracked a knuckle.

"I guess these things just happen at the wrong time," the 6-foot, 160-pound Geiger philosophized. "If a few of them had happened during the winter, I'd have been okay."

Chamberlain Leads 76ers to Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Their game strategy was obvious with the first play and that was with Wilt going to the basket. At that point we knew what we were in for," Coach Jack McMahon of the Cincinnati Royals said quietly.

What the Royals were in for was a dazzling one-man show as Wilt Chamberlain poured in 37 points to lead Philadelphia to a 123-102 victory that ended the National Basketball Association's best-of-5 Eastern Division playoffs at 1-1 Wednesday night.

Chamberlain scored the 76ers' first basket to tie the score and the Royals never went ahead. Wilt also pulled down 27 rebounds and was credited with 11 assists as the 76ers avenged their series-opening upset in Wednesday's only playoff game.

"Wilt showed why he should be recognized as the greatest player in the history of the game," Coach Alex Hannum said in the 76ers' dressing room. "We also tried to key in on (Oscar) Robertson a little more tonight and since Wally Jones is smaller we tried to shift other men on him too."

"We've got two tough ball clubs, but I feel Philadelphia is physically stronger than the Royals," said Hannum. "I would like to play them again tomorrow (Thursday) instead of Friday."

Over in the Royals' dressing room, McMahon said it was not just a matter of strength. "I was not at all surprised at their going to Wilt," he said. "We knew what to expect. We just didn't play well enough."

"You know, I know and all the rest know that Philadelphia plays zone defense at least partially and the basic adjustment against zone defense is to move the ball. In the final analysis, it was the shooting that killed us."

Statistics bore out McMahon's view. The Royals hit with 40 of 92 shots from the field, while the 76ers connected with 49 of 101 field goal attempts.

Robertson scored 29 points to lead the Royals and Connie Dierking — the star of Tuesday night's game — added 21, plus 17 rebounds. Hal Greer scored 28 for Philadelphia.

Hannum said the 76ers took no special measures to keep Dierking down.

"No, we didn't do anything different against Dierking," he said. "I thought Connie was great Tuesday night, but I just didn't think he could play like that again."

While the 76ers and Royals rested, Los Angeles prepared to take on San Francisco and the Chicago Bulls moved to St. Louis to continue their playoffs tonight.

Smithy Award to Mauldin

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' football team has voted the first Claude Smithy award to senior guard Travis Mauldin.

The award is for "outstanding leadership on and off the field." It was initiated by the student Senate and the student pep organization at Arkansas.

The award is in honor of tackle Claude Smithy who died last November in a Houston hospital. He had collapsed in the Razorback dressing room after seeing limited action in a game against Texas A&M.

Hulls Make Hawks a Family Affair

CHICAGO (AP) — The Hulls made the Chicago Black Hawks' offense a family affair Wednesday night in a 3-3 stalemate with the New York Rangers, who grabbed sole possession of second place in the National Hockey League.

The tie gave the Rangers 68 points. The Montreal Canadiens whipped the Maple Leafs 5-3 in Toronto to deadlock the Leafs for third place, each with 67 points.

The Black Hawks are stampeding to their first NHL championship and hold first place by 20 points.

Dennis Hull pushed the Hawks into a 2-0 lead early in the first period. He scored his 20th and 21st goals 32 seconds apart.

Reg Fleming scored midway in the opener and Vic Hadfield tallied early in the second period to put the Rangers into a 2-2 tie.

Bobby Hull, at 4:48 of the second frame, slammed a 25-foot shot past goalie Ed Giacomin for his 52nd goal of the year to put the Hawks in front 3-2.

Hadfield's second goal at 7:35 of the finale while Chicago's Pat Stapleton was in the penalty box, locked the game at 3-3.

J.C. Tremblay's two successive goals early in the second period opened a 4-1 lead by the Canadiens. Ron Ellis then led a Toronto spurt with two goals.

After the Leafs had pulled up to 4-3, Jean Beliveau's goal at 16:54 of the last period proved the Canadiens' clincher.

Judo Fighters Know Kangeiko

LISBON (AP) — It is time to get up early for 80 Portuguese judo fighters who also observe themselves and Tommie Agee "Kangeiko" like all others (273) should be even better judokas around the world.

Kangeiko, according to "sixth dan" Kiyoshi Kobayashi of Japan, who successfully runs his Kyo Shu Kan Gymnasium in Lisbon, is a two week training period in which all judo fighters have to hold training sessions in the coldest hours of the day — from 6:30 a.m. on, to improve their physical endurance.

Portugal's 3,000 judo lovers who are only outnumbered by football, basketball, sailing and camping addicts, are busily preparing for their biggest judo event ever held in the country: the junior judo European championship to be held in Lisbon in April.

Won't Announce Separation

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The wife of Gov. Roberto Sanchez Vilella says she does not want the separation her husband has announced.

In a statement Tuesday, Dona Conchita Dapena de Sanchez Vilella said divorce is also out of the question because she is a Roman Catholic.

The governor had announced the separation Monday night. The governor, who was believed to be a candidate for re-election in 1968, also announced he would not run again.

North Vietnam Also Has Its Own 'Hawk' and 'Dove' Factions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe the North Vietnamese government has its own "hawk" and "dove" factions whose shifting influence may help explain why President Ho Chi Minh released this week his correspondence with President Johnson.

Johnson administration leaders apparently were more surprised by publication of the letters than by Ho's earlier rejection of Johnson's proposal to open direct, secret peace talks.

The pattern of Hanoi's behavior in dealing with peace probes is now undergoing careful analysis here for whatever light it may shed on future possibilities for opening negotiations.

Basic to this study is the belief that various factions exist within the North Vietnamese ruling group which may be related to pro-Soviet and pro-Red Chinese interests.

Exactly what the "hawk" and "dove" labels would mean in Hanoi is not clear to Washington authorities, but generally they feel that some advisors in Ho's inner circle favor exploring the possibility of peace talks, perhaps for purely tactical reasons, while others advocate rigid adherence to a war policy regardless of cost and risk.

In the exchanges which began between the U.S. and North Vietnamese governments early in January, officials believe they see evidence of variations in behavior brought about by the shifting patterns of decision making in Hanoi.

There were five contacts between the governments topped off by Johnson's letter, which asked for U.S.-North Vietnamese talks and proposed to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and stop building up U.S. forces in the South if Ho Chi Minh would stop infiltration into the South.

Johnson's letter, which Hanoi made public Tuesday along with Ho's reply, was delivered through a North Vietnamese diplomat in Moscow.

On some occasions, North Vietnamese representatives have refused to receive messages from the United States. On other occasions, they have received them. In Washington's view, this variation in behavior can be explained most readily by which faction in Hanoi has the upper hand at the time.

Russian Fine in Alaska Called Measley

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Soviet fishing vessel — the second to be accused this month of violating U.S. rights in Alaskan waters — was being towed to the ward Kodiak today by a Coast Guard cutter.

Capt. Robert Emerson, commander of the Coast Guard station at Kodiak, said the Soviet skipper refused to follow the cutter Storiz to port so the vessel was taken under tow. If the Soviet changes his mind and proceeds under his own power the vessels could arrive by late afternoon. The tow would take nearly two days.

The 178-foot trawler, SRTM 8-457, was boarded south of the Shumagin Islands Wednesday after a Coast Guard aircraft had engaged in "hot pursuit" of the vessel for 10 miles.

The Coast Guard said the aircraft, on routine law-enforcement patrol, spotted the trawler fishing 5.5 miles east of Seal Cape in the Shumagins, a violation of the U.S. 12-mile exclusive fisheries zone which went into effect March 17.

The aircraft signaled the ship to heave-to and await arrival of a government ship. Instead, the trawler picked up her fishing gear and headed toward international waters. The Storiz overtook the ship 15 miles off the Alaska Peninsula.

The scene was about 100 miles southwest of the spot the Soviet trawler SRTM 8-413 was seized March 2 for violation of the three-mile territorial limit at Mitrofanof Island, some 40 miles southwest of Chignik on the Alaska Peninsula.

Nicolai G. Zernov, skipper of that vessel, was fined $5,000, an amount Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel called "measly."

Wiggly Lines in Vision
Traceable to Migraine

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What would make me see a network of lines that wriggle and shake and blot out part of my vision? When I close my eyes, the lines are bright, like a sun spot, only flickering. They clear up after 20 or 30 minutes.

A—The aura of migraine fits your description. In children and young adults this aura is usually followed by a severe headache over one eye, then vomiting, but in persons past 45 the interval between attacks increases and the headache and nausea may be mild or absent.

Q—What side effects can Cafergot for migraine have?

A—This combination of calfeine and ergotamine tartrate (tablet or suppository), when taken at the first intimation of an attack, is usually effec-live in shortening the attack.

The drug is remarkably free of side effects but should not be taken by anyone who has coronary heart disease, high blood pressure, kidney disease or is pregnant. Cafergot P-B contains pentobarbital as an added ingredient. The pentobarbital is habit-forming.

Q—My husband has severe attacks of migraine. He takes two to six Cafergot tablets daily but the pain in the right side of his face persists. He has even had a nerve cut but that didn't help him. What would you suggest?

A—I would suggest that your husband's trouble, which may have started with migraine attacks, sounds more like tic douloureux or trige-minial neuralgia. Carbamazepine, the latest remedy for this condition, or dilantin, an older standby, should give him some relief. They can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription.

Silent Time in Politics in America

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is tippy-toe time in American politics. The woods are full of would-be presidential candidates, not one of them willing to say boo-ey.

President Johnson says he hasn't made up his mind about running again. Sen. Robert F.
Kennedy, D-N.Y., scoffs at the idea he might try. And three top Republicans are rolling their eyes but playing mum.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, busy as a traveling salesman, won't express ambitions.
The always ambitious former vice president, Richard M. Nixon, won't say yes or no. And neither will Michigan Gov.
George Romney, who is covering more territory than a long-distance runner.

No president in this century, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, was more totally political than Johnson or relished power more. But his political fortunes are rather low: His popularity rating is down, Vietnam plagues him.

There can be no doubt he will try again, if he thinks he has a chance, particularly since he controls the party machinery, which gives him a big advantage over Kennedy, who is being talked of as a Johnson rival.

Kennedy, more distinguished in the Senate for his speeches than his legislation, manages to stay in the public eye, particularly with his criticism of Johnson on Vietnam and the American role in the Dominican Republic revolt.

Someone less sensitive to criticism than Johnson, or perhaps more politically sophisticated, might have figured that if he ignored the senator he might go away. But Johnson reacts to the needle, which helps Kennedy stay noticed.

At this stage it seems fair to ask: Just how much attention would Kennedy be getting at all if he wasn't the brother of the late President John F. Kennedy? At this time in American history Kennedy is a magic name.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Blondie

Take a look at the bidding of today's hand. South starts with an artificial two club opening and North gives the negative two diamond response.

At this point South could merely rebid to three no-trump but he thinks that his hand is so good it may make a slam with very little help from partner, so South bids three diamonds to show his suit.

What is North's three heart bid? Is it a psychic or just evidence of temporary insanity?

Actually it shows the Herbert convention at work. The Herbert convention provides that if your partner opens two clubs and rebids in a suit after your two diamond response, then you show a really bad hand by bidding the next suit and not the minimum number of no-trumps.

Note that South can't lose three no-trump and has no bert he should rebid three no-trump rather than three diamonds and protect himself against a heart lead through his king.

You can also use the Herbert convention when you play ordinary strong two bids.

This way, North would bid two hearts over a forcing two diamond opening and South would play the no-trump contract.

We recommend the Herbert convention highly. However, before you use it, you had better really discuss it with your partner. You don't get to use this convention more than two or three times in a year of steady play and it can be really disastrous if you forget when it does come up.

Q- The bidding has been:

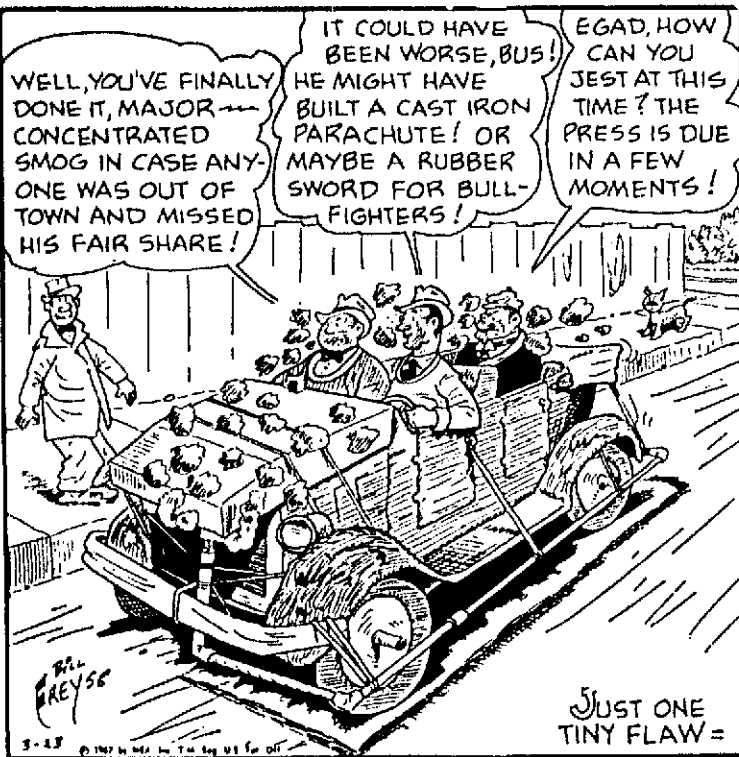

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 N.T.
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	5 N.T.
Pass	6 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ J 2 ♥ A K 6 5 ♦ 4 3 2 ♣ A Q 8 2
What do you do now?
A- Bid six no-trump. This should be fully as safe as six spades and if your partner holds solid spades plus the extra aces and kings and has forgotten to bid the grand slam he may remember to do so now.

MARY REILLY

The Emmet Woman's Bowling Association met this week for election of officers and awarding of trophies in the 7th annual City Handicap tournament. Mary Reilly, secretary-treasurer, presented awards and money to outstanding bowlers. Dorothy May, president presided over the meet. She was assisted by Carolyn Ross, vice-president. Special recognition and bowling patch was awarded to Joyce Clifton for picking up Big 4: 4-7 and 7-10 pin split. Jimmie Nicholls was elected president of the Emmet Woman's Bowling Association for 1967-68; Jo Cummings, vice-president; Mary Reilly, secretary-treasurer and Dolores McBride, sergeant-at-arms.

Senate Takes Up Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, after voting overwhelmingly to provide $12.2 billion more this year for Vietnam fighting, begins considering today defense spending for fiscal 1968.

Before the Senate is a measure authorizing $20 billion for military purposes beginning July 1. Even opponents predict speedy passage for the measure, which deals with only a fraction of over-all defense requests.

While the Senate concerned itself with defense spending, the House voted 357-0 Monday to increase pension and other benefits for an estimated 2.8 million servicemen and their dependents.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate, would increase cost-of-living allowances by up to 8½ per cent and boost service-connected disability payments.

Chairman Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., of the House Veterans Affairs committee, said the administration-backed bill "rounds out the problem of bringing Vietnam veterans under the same rules and regulations" as other veterans.

The measure providing supplemental funds for Vietnam cleared the Senate 77-3 Monday. It brought to $72.13 billion the amount earmarked for defense and war. Afterwards, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.—one of the three dissenters—urged that the authorization bill be brought to a quick vote since "it's more of the same."

Any debate today on the measure probably will involve a recommendation that part of it go toward deploying an antiballistic missile defense system should current talks between the United States and Soviet Union fail.

The two nations have started discussions aimed at avoiding costly expenditures on both sides for missile defense systems.

The House also gave final passage to a measure authorizing shipment of 3 million tons of grain to drought-stricken India this year.

Farm Prices Reaching a Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rebellious farmers spilling milk on pastures and streets is marking a price struggle many persons believe is reaching a crisis with repercussions from rural voting booths to big city supermarkets.

The milk holding and dumping initiated in 25 states is the most dramatic expression of what farmers and their representatives in Congress describe as deep unrest over declining prices, rising costs — and the seemingly greener pasture on the city side of the fence.

A march by 100 farmers on the New Jersey state house in Trenton, dynamiting of a milk truck in Tennessee, vandalism, spoilage to stored milk in Minnesota — these were among developments Wednesday as the week-long National Farmers Organization campaign to boost milk prices heightened in intensity.

More demonstrations, boycotts and strikes are expected, said a Midwestern congressman. "He wants to be part of the affluent society."

With farm prices skidding for six consecutive months, farmers charge they are being short-changed in a booming economy. Conscious of declining power at the polls, some farmers argue the administration simply is using its support tools to tamp down prices and court the favor of urban consumers.

Farmer Cyril Habiger of Bavaria, Kan., figures it adds up to this: "There are fewer farmers, more votes among consumers, so policies favor consumers."

Many farm leaders feel the same way. At a recent conference in Washington, one after another rose to complain about prices for wheat, feed grains, milk and other dairy products, beef cattle, rice. Many felt the government could do more to bolster prices if it wanted to.

Democrats and Republicans agree the situation foreshadows trouble for the administration, a battle in Congress and a key conflict in the 1968 presidential campaign.

Siberia is the name of a town in Indiana.

Race Pictures
Denver Letter
Florida Card

If it's a fair day when you read this I should be on the back stretch at Oaklawn Jockey Club catching color pictures of the horses as they come out of the starting gate. But if it's raining or the overcast is too heavy I'll stay at home and wait for another day. Ektachrome film is like people—full of bounce on a bright day, but it gets the blues when the sun doesn't shine.

This cautious operator isn't much of a pari-mutuel fan. Maybe it's because of what I know about horses. We had 16 of 'em on the Pennsylvania farm when I was a youngster, and all but one of them were dogs. I love 'em, and I'd give them anything—except money.

Most of the Hot Springs races are short ones, and the starting gate is across the centerfield and on the back stretch. You lug your camera and plate-holders a quarter of a mile across the grass, get set for a closeup as the rascals come out of the gate—and you have your first picture. Then nothing—absolutely nothing—happens for the next 45 minutes, until you get picture No. 2. And so goes the afternoon.

Reminds me of what a witty Frenchman once told me in New Orleans. "The wife and I," he said, "decided to tour Europe. She saw everything, had a wonderful time. But I, poor fool, I took along a camera—and never had time to see a thing!"

Editor The Star: I have a copy of your Jan. 28 issue with the color reproduction on the front page. Mr. Allan Kahn of Berkey Technical Corp., New York, was kind enough to give me this copy and some additional information about the Berkey Direct System, but I have some additional questions. Mr. Kahn told me that you are also doing trade work with the Berkey unit and I have a customer who is looking for some direct separations.

We do not have a unit in the Denver area that is doing any trade work, so this leaves us with conventional (hand-made) separation shops and the attendant high prices.

If you are interested in doing some separations for the trade in this area would you let me know what your price schedule is?

Ed Note: We had an earlier letter in the same vein from Olney, Ill. — now from Denver. Which illustrates the newness of the Berkey automatic color separator and the instant demand for its work. But of course we are just learning to operate the machine ourselves, and only after we get color into regular production for The Star can we undertake outside work—which we definitely plan to do.

Willis R. Hamiter, an old Patmos native now living at 700 Eighth St., West Palmetto, Fla. 33561, writes me:

"Mrs. Henry Hunt sent me clippings from Hope Star... new color process interesting. I remember the 1912 horse and wagon parking scenes, along with the sprinkling water wagon (in black and white)."

Woman Obeyed Instinct

LONDON (AP) — A woman whose car caused the death of a pedestrian was acquitted of a dangerous driving charge Wednesday after her lawyer said she obeyed her maternal instinct.

The attorney told the jury in the Old Bailey court Judith Hitchings, 30, turned her head when her baby fell off the back seat and yelled.

Mrs. Hitchings lost control of the car, which ran up on the sidewalk. It hit a road sign which crashed over and killed Doris Rogerson, 38.

"It is almost beyond the control of a mother not to turn her head and look when she hears her baby screaming in pain," the defense lawyer said.

The jury took only a few minutes to acquit Mrs. Hitchings.

Jury Indicts Shaw in JFK Case Probe

By JOHN S. LANG

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A grand jury has indicted Clay L. Shaw on a charge of "wilfully and unlawfully conspiring" to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Shaw, 54, headed for a hideaway today on the Mississippi Gulf Coast with Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's approval.

Shaw, who retired in October 1965 as managing director of the International Trade Mart here, has been free on $10,000 bond since his arrest March 1.

The district attorney had said earlier he would bypass the grand jury and file a bill of information before bringing Shaw to trial.

Garrison risked a "no true bill" by taking the case before the grand jury. He had already won a ruling from a three-judge state court panel that sufficient evidence was presented at a preliminary hearing to warrant holding Shaw for trial.

However, he still could have filed a bill of information in the case if the grand jury refused to indict Shaw.

By filing a bill of information, the district attorney would have had to divulge specific details of the case. In Louisiana, which patterns its laws on the Napoleonic code of France, a prosecutor has a choice of bringing a man to trial either by a grand jury indictment or a bill of information.

Shaw was charged by the grand jury's true bill with "wilfully and unlawfully conspiring with David W. Ferrie, Lee Harvey Oswald and unnamed others to murder John F. Kennedy."

Perry Raymond Russo, 25, star witness for Garrison in last week's emotional court hearing, made a surprise appearance before the grand jury before the announcement of the indictment.

Russo told the three-judge court last week he heard Shaw, Ferrie and Oswald plotting in mid-September 1963 to kill Kennedy. Shaw is the only one of the conspirators named in the indictment still alive.

Cambodia Asked to Give Asylum

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnamese reported today that a South Vietnamese air force major flew to Cambodia in a small plane March 19 and asked for political asylum.

The Communist Vietnam news agency said Maj. Ngo Tan Dieu, 37, landed a Cessna L19 plane at Veangvong Airport in Kompong Cham Province. The report said Ngo and the plane were brought to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, Wednesday.

The report gave no other details.

Rep. Feild to Back Newsboy Exemption From 1914 State Law

Hempstead County Representative Talbot Feild, Jr., issued the following statement late yesterday:

I received a special delivery letter this morning at 6:30 from Cone Magie, president of the Arkansas Press Association, requesting assistance because of a recent Arkansas State Supreme Court decision which placed the jobs of over 8,500 newspaper carriers in jeopardy. He stated that because of this decision boys under the age of 14 can not carry newspapers in the neighborhoods unless the law is changed. He pointed out that the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act has an exemption for carriers, as does the Federal Social Security Act, but that the Arkansas 1914 Act failed to include this exemption. Of course, there was no Federal Fair Labor Standards Act nor Federal Social Security Act in 1914.

In order for the proposed legislation to be considered by the General Assembly when it reconvenes on Monday, March 27, after the two-week recess, it will

Johnson's Domestic Programs Are Facing Some Real Trouble

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Their ranks swollen by last year's elections, House budget-cutters have indicated in the first test vote this year that President Johnson's domestic programs face real trouble.

They showed considerable muscle Wednesday as the House passed and sent to the Senate the first of a series of appropriations bills financing domestic programs for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The action came on the eve of recess by the House and Senate for a 10-day Easter vacation. The legislators were to meet briefly today — with no major action scheduled — and won't return until April 3.

The appropriations bill carried $7.5 billion for the Treasury and Post Office departments and the executive office of the President. Since it finances the jobs of thousands of mail carriers and other postal employees, Cartel Rigs Quinine Price, Resells to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An international cartel — using quinine it bought from the U.S. government for about 21 cents an ounce — has rigged prices and resold the drug in America and elsewhere at nearly 10 times that price, says a Senate probe.

Dr. John M. Blair, the investigator, told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee Wednesday the cartel was able to dominate prices of quinine and a derivative used to treat heart disease because it purchased more than four-fifths of the quinine released from the U.S. stockpile during 1961-64.

The sales by the General Services Administration were halted in anticipation the U.S. would need quinine and the derivative, quinidine, for the Vietnam war.

Blair, the subcommittee's chief economist, said once the stockpile sales were halted the price of quinidine — a drug vital to treatment of some 250,000 U.S. heart patients — rose sharply in the United States.

The heart drug now costs an average of $10.50 for 100 tablets. The price before 1964 ranged as low as $2, a subcommittee spokesman said.

Blair said the cartel controlled the sources of quinine and its manufacture, but were afraid release of the U.S. stockpile would shake their control.

Involved in the price rigging scheme, said Blair, were three English firms, two from France, two from West Germany and one from the Netherlands.

The committee has been probing quinine prices for a year.

it is one of the most difficult to cut.

Yet it reached the House floor trimmed $112 million below the President's request. And, with almost solid Republican backing, the House chopped out another $2.4 million earmarked for more postal field employees and more personnel for the office of the Treasury secretary.

More significantly, the budget-cutters came much closer than in any recent year to imposing an across the board reduction in spending next year for activities financed in the bill.

One of the items is the President's salary and allowances of $150,000.

The over-all cut, proposed by Rep. Charles R. Jones, R-N.C., and supported by most Republicans, would have in essence trimmed spending next year 5 per cent from amounts set out in the President's budget.

Sees Approval of Flood Project

The plan calls for widening and straightening of the channel within the Springdale area.

Two Newsmen Jailed in Bribe Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two newspaper reporters told a grand jury Wednesday that more than one state legislator had confided to newsmen that they were offered bribes to vote for a bill to legalize casino gambling in Hot Springs.

The reporters refused to identify the lawmakers and were jailed for contempt by Circuit Judge William J. Kirby.

The Pulaski County Grand Jury subpoenaed five newsmen as it continued its investigation of attempted bribes surrounding the bill.

State Rep. Gayle Windsor of Little Rock told reporters March 7 that he was offered "10 bills" to vote for the gambling measure. He said he later learned that 10 bills meant $1,000.

Jailed without bond were Jack Baker, 27, of The Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock and Michael B. Smith, 23, of The Pine Bluff Commercial.

Kirby said they would remain in jail until they identified the grand jury the other legislators involved besides Windsor or unless the state Supreme Court released them on a writ of certiorari.

Kirby said the newsmen claimed privileges under a state law that reporters are not required to disclose the source of their information unless their articles are written in bad faith, malice or not in the public interest.

The judge said the statute did not apply in this case because neither had reported in their newspapers the alleged bribe attempts of anyone other than Windsor.

Windsor is the only legislator to say publicly that he was offered a bribe to vote for the bill. The measure passed in the Arkansas House and Senate but was vetoed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. The Legislature did not attempt to override the veto.

Spokesmen for both newspapers said their lawyers would probably attempt today to free the reporters.

Baker later said he and Smith would "stick it out" unless their "informants" revealed themselves or released the newsmen from their obligation to withhold their names.

Witness Ignores Subpoena

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — On advice from her attorney, Mrs. Wanda Tudor failed Wednesday to appear before Judge Russell Roberts in the 5th District Circuit Court here for a hearing into alleged voting irregularities.

The attorney, Winslow Drummond, advised Mrs. Tudor not to appear because, he said, the three subpoenas issued here were not legal nor constitutionally sufficient.

Mrs. Tudor, a receptionist in the office of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, became the focal point of the voting charges.

Sen. Guy Jones of Conway charged that Republican forces had bought votes from Negroes in Faulkner. He produced a number of canceled checks to Negroes in the county signed by Mrs. Tudor, who then was working in the GOP campaign.

Roberts said he would have Prosecutor Jeff Mobley reissue the subpoenas in a new form. Drummond said that if these are valid, Mrs. Tudor will appear at a hearing on Conway Saturday.

Laymen's Terms

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller, wife of the governor, said Wednesday that she will send letters to Republican women explaining legislation in laymen's terms.

Mrs. Rockefeller said she plans to send the letters out twice monthly. She spoke here before some 100 Republican representatives from five south-east Arkansas counties.

Intensified Bombing Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted today intensified U.S. bombing of North Vietnam as the Washington attitude toward peace talks took a pessimistic turn.

Congressional leaders said after a White House meeting Wednesday that President Johnson has little hope for future peace feelers soon.

And top allied military chiefs reportedly agreed at this week's Guam conference that the war could last indefinitely unless military pressure breaks the will of the North Vietnamese.

Dirksen, a key supporter of Johnson's war policies, said airfields near Hanoi probably will be targeted for air attack in the wake of North Vietnam's rejection of the President's bid for peace talks.

"When you are at war and the enemy refuses to talk except on terms that would mean your surrender, you turn the screws on him," Dirksen said in an interview. "You cut off his supply lines and his source of food and you do everything that is necessary to bring him down."

He suggested this would be the President's future strategy. Johnson gave no indication of his future military plans at Wednesday's meeting with congressional leaders of both parties. But a participant said the President was solemn and grim about Ho Chi Minh's rebuff of his offer to halt the bombings as soon as he had assurances North Vietnamese inviolation of the South had stopped.

Eleven senators discussed the war at a meeting with U Thant Wednesday at U.N. headquarters in New York, and afterwards Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he agreed with Thant's proposal for ending the struggle.

Thant calls for a simultaneous end to bombing of the North and ceasefire in the South, with opening of negotiations between the United States and North Vietnam.

Fulbright, D-Ark., wouldn't disclose the substance of the two-hour private talk between Thant and the senators.

SAIGON (AP) — The ever-mounting cost of the Vietnam war was underscored today by the announcement of record American and Communist casualties last week while both sides increased in total strength.

Communist mortar barrages accounted for much of the rising U.S. casualties, and more of these were reported Wednesday and today in two sensitive war spots.

Red mortar shells rained down on U.S. positions just below the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam and along the Cambodian border where the biggest U.S. jungle sweep of the war is under way.

The U.S. Command also disclosed that 18 such ground sweeps are now being conducted, an indication that a high level of casualties can be expected to continue.

The U.S. Command said that 2,675 Communist soldiers were killed last week while 211 Americans were killed and 1,874 were wounded.

Youngsters Can Bake these Easter Cookies

ALMOND COOKIES, with coconut and dates, can be baked by youngsters themselves for an informal get-together during the Easter holidays.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

EASTER HOLIDAYS, when youngsters are home from school, may call for a party. It can be an informal get-together and children can bake their own cookies to serve with ice cream.

If this idea appeals to your family, you might like to try this simple cookie recipe, easily put together.

Youngsters usually enjoy measuring ingredients with fractional measuring cups—and every well-equipped kitchen should boast a set of these. A small spatula (available at a dime store and of endless use to any cook) will allow boys and girls to do a good job of leveling the sugar, salt and flour called for in this recipe.

Almonds and coconut also go into the cookies. But the almonds come already sliced, the coconut flaked—so nothing more than measuring is needed here. The dates, however, will need to be cut up; for this task, a kitchen scissors is a good tool. If it's medium size, a youngster can manage it.

Our young tasters liked these cookies best shortly after baking. With this tip in mind, you might like to make other party preparations a day ahead of the party and leave the morning of the party day for baking.

EAT-NOW ALMOND COOKIES
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1-1/2 cups sliced natural almonds
1-1/2 cups flaked coconut
1/3 cup unsifted regular flour
Fresh dates, pitted and cut up

In medium or large mixer bowl using high speed of electric mixer, beat together the eggs, sugar, salt and almond extract until thoroughly blended. Fold in the almonds, coconut and flour. On a well greased cookie sheet, drop the mixture by heaping teaspoons, a few inches apart. Top each mound with a few pieces of date, then with another teaspoonful of the mixture. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. If necessary, allow to cool 1 minute to firm before removing with a wide spatula to wire racks to cool. Makes about 3 dozen.

New Songs Lure
Judy Garland

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Many of our local citizens were surprised when Judy Garland accepted that role in "Valley of the Dolls"—surprised because one of the characters in the book reminds people so much of her.

A big reason she did it is that she is very anxious to work again, and this part offered her one tremendous inducement: Andre Previn will write five songs for her to sing.

Much of the artistic migration within the United States these days is east-to-west—people leaving New York for Hollywood. Reversing that moving mainstream is Elmer Bernstein, one of our top movie composers, who is off to New York to write his first Broadway musical, "How Now, Dow Jones?" Carolyn Leigh will be his lyricist.

"For a composer," Bernstein says, "Broadway is financially a good thing. When you write for Broadway, you retain ownership of the songs. When you write for movies, you don't—the studios own the score. So even if a Broadway musical isn't a hit, a composer is better off than if he wrote a movie.

This Hollywood system is probably illegal, Bernstein says. But so far nobody has tested it in court. The studios have the composers over a barrel.

Academy Award nominee Bernstein ("Hawaii") says that the studios treat composers with less respect—and less money—than any other artists. There is, he says, a ceiling (about $25,000) beyond which studios won't go. And they go considerably over that for stories, actors, directors.

The composer thinks that's unfair. He feels that the music adds a great deal to the success of a film. Why shouldn't the composers be rewarded accordingly, he asks.

The economics of television, says Jerome Schnur, seems to indicate that there may be a rebirth of game shows just ahead.

Television dramatic shows are becoming more expensive all the time. But game and panel shows are relatively cheap to produce. Besides, says Schnur, game and panel shows are distinctly television-created, not copies of some other art form.

Schnur is, as you might have guessed, in the game show business. He's a veteran of the Goodson-Todman factory and now, with his own company, he has the new ABC daytime show, "Everybody's Talking," on the air. He's also produced several successful documentaries in other fields, such as ones on science, Berlioz and the Vatican.

Schnur is a source of interesting theories about television, such as this one:

"In the future, television will be the scene of much more competition—many more channels will begin operating in most cities. I think that will result in a division such as we have today in theaters—the big theaters and the art houses.

I see a time when our three networks will be like the big downtown theaters, showing the commercial hits. And the independent stations and UHF stations will be like the art houses. It will be a time when everyone will have something he wants to watch."

Patricia Casey, former Metropolitan Opera ballerina, is now working as producer Judd Bernard's assistant on "Point Blank." This is a way for her to achieve her ambition—movie choreography.

What Pat would really like to do is choreograph a western. And isn't that a stimulating thought?

Cliff Uses Up His Quota

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—If you want to be sticky about it, Emmy Award-winning Cliff Robertson has used up his quota of television appearances for the next couple of years.

Robertson, regarded as one of the finest young American actors, likes to limit himself to two or three television guest shots a year.

"I like to feel when I do a show people look forward to seeing it," he said. "If you are selective with your material and you don't overexpose yourself, it is possible to have that reaction."

So how come he has already been on ABC Stage '67 (that's one), will be on The Red Skelton Hour on March 28 (that's two), on Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theater on March 29 (that's three) and played Shame on Batman (that's FOUR)?

"Well, my daughter Stephanie, who is 8, knows I am an actor, but she kept saying things like, 'If you're an actor, daddy, how come you are not on Batman?' So I did a Batman and became 10 feet tall in my daughter's eyes, which is all any father wants."

He says he has never had such fun with a role in his life. "It was the biggest romp, and anything went."

Shame was sent away to prison, according to the script, for "from 99 years to life." But Bill Dozier, the producer, has told Cliff that the character might get out in about four months "for good behavior."

"I'd do another one tomorrow," Robertson said.

Easily said, but Cliff has a lineup of films that won't give him much time for television. He will soon be starting "The Devil's Brigade" with William Holden, which will be filmed in Utah and Rome. That will be followed by "Charlie," which will be filmed in Boston. Cliff is very excited by the script, which deals with a mentally retarded adult.

"I'm grateful for all the work I have had, but I'm never really satisfied with what I do. I think maybe 'Charlie' will come closest to satisfying me."

At last, Tony has become a lady, thanks to one of the few Broadway producers who combines a flair for showmanship with an ability to spend money with good taste.

He is Alexander Cohen, currently represented on

CLIFF ROBERTSON

"I'm never really satisfied." Broadway by three hits. "Black Comedy," "The Homecoming" and "At the Drop of Another Hat," with the irrepressible Britons, Flanders and Swann.

Cohen is producing the telecast of the Tony Awards (Broadway's equivalent of the Oscar), which will be telecast nationally for the first time on ABC-TV on Easter Sunday, March 26. And he is doing quite a job to make Tony a glamorous, elegant lady.

Foster Parents Told They're Too Old, Social Workers Take Child, 4

By GEORGE ESPER
NEW YORK (AP) — One chilly morning six weeks ago, two social workers went to the eight-room house of Nunzio Marchese on Long Island to pick up a 4-year-old girl and return her to a founding home.

"It was 7:30 a.m.," Marchese recalls. "Nancy Anne was still sleeping. We had to awaken her."

When it came time to leave, Nancy Anne didn't want to be taken out of the house.

"She ran to my oldest daughter and held on," Marchese remembers. "She started to cry."

Marchese, 60, and his wife, Josephine, 55, had raised Nancy Anne since she was two weeks old.

"They told us we were too old, and that Nancy Anne would be placed in another foster home with younger parents," Marchese recalled in an interview today.

"I just pray to God we have the child back. We miss her dearly. There was happiness in the home, but now everything is fading the other way."

Marchese is seeking in state Supreme Court to regain Nancy Anne from the New York Foundling Hospital, which is run by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York.

The Marcheses, who live in West Hempstead, Long Island, have three children of their own, Barbara, 20, a clerical worker, and Leonard, 17, and Josephine, 15, both high school students. They also have another foster child, Belinda, 12, whom they received from the New York Foundling Hospital when she was two years old.

Marchese, who came to this country from Italy when he was three years old, has been working for the past 28 years as a cook in a Manhattan hotel. He and his wife have been married 21 years. His wife was born in Bayonne, N.J.

The Marcheses also have cared for three other foundlings entrusted to them by the hospital in past years. Two of these children were subsequently returned to their natural parents. The third, Marchese said, was a problem child and had to be returned to the founding home.

Marchese told the court Tuesday that both he and his wife are devout Catholics, the same religion as Anne's parents.

His lawyer, Gerald Alpert, said the Marcheses want to adopt Anne, and have the consent of the child's natural parents to do so. Adoption would mean giving up the $100-a-month allowance the Marcheses have been receiving. The child is a ward of the city Welfare Department.

The case recalls a similar one in Tilton, N.Y., where last January Michael Liuni and his wife won a year-long legal battle to adopt a 4½-year-old foster child they had raised since she was five days old. The county welfare commissioner, who reluctantly consented to the adoption, had cited the age of the Liunis as one reason for not wanting them to keep the child. Both are 48.

Dear Helen: I'm 11 years old and have a girl friend who lives next door. Her parents beat her, and I mean BEAT! Yesterday she didn't come to school so I went over to see her. No one was home I thought, until I heard a funny sound, so I went in. Oh, Helen, it was awful: her face was all swollen and there were bruises and scratches and scars all over her. She was on her bed, still crying. Her folks were gone. I asked her what had happened, and she said, "Please, don't tell."

I told Mom, and she said to keep my mouth shut, as discipline wasn't our business and we shouldn't get involved.

This isn't the first time it's happened. We can hear screams coming from over there at night, and at school there would be marks on her face and legs, but she'd tell everybody she fell or something.

It seems everyone around here knows something bad is happening but they're scared to say anything.

Oh, Helen, I'm so afraid for her! They might even kill her. Can't something be done?—SCARED (No Address)

Dear Scared: Something must be done, if these beatings are as bad as you describe. Adults who hide behind the words, "Don't get involved" are almost as guilty as the child beaters. I hope they sleep well tonight, for I can't—not until I know this case has been investigated.

Please send me the name of your little neighbor and the school she attends. I promise I won't involve your family, but I will do everything in my power to help her.

Dear Helen: We are two girls with a serious problem. We're best friends and our parents are good friends too. That's the problem. My father is divorced and my sisters and I are living with him. My girl friend has a mother and father.

We've seen her mother and my father kissing several times when her father isn't around. She calls my father so late at night it gets him out of bed. Sometimes I answer the phone and lie that he isn't home.

This makes us feel like pigs. I can't tell how awful it is for us. My girl friend and I can't talk to our parents. We can't stand the thought. What can we do?—H.S.T.

Dear H: I think you should talk to your parents. Possibly when they know how their actions affect their children they will stop thinking entirely of themselves.

Dear Helen: You told a girl to go and stay with her divorced father or relatives, because she couldn't get along with her mother, and then you suggested a foster home for another girl. You sure give kids away from parents when they only need to talk it out with them.

Come on teens, don't listen to stupid columnists. Talk things over with Mom and Dad. They'll listen!—A TEENAGER

Dear Teen: Why don't you read carefully before you sound off, dear? The first girl's mother was, to put it bluntly, a prostitute. The second girl was treated as a browbeaten slave.

I admire your Pollyanna spirit, but you have a lot to learn about people: These types aren't transformed by nice little "Mom and Dad" talks. I only wish it were that easy!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1967, Inc.

SOUTHERN CHURCH 'CRISIS'
NEW YORK (AP) — Educated, sensitive people are finding it "hard to accept the simplism which prevails" in popular Southern churches, says the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Hill Jr. of the University of North Carolina. A Southern Baptist and head of the university's religion department, he writes in a new book, "Southern Churches in Crisis," published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

"In the Southern church's hands, the Christian affirmation and claim are reduced to a mere shadow of their massive, dynamic reality."

HEALING PARTNERS
NEW YORK (AP) — Religion and medicine are complementary arms of healing, says Dr. William Donald Sharpe of New Jersey's College of Medicine. In a new Appleton-Century book, "Medicine and the Ministry," he writes: "As the two agents most helpful to people in trouble, doctors and ministers should understand each other better."

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

CAPE COD-STYLE home can either be a luxurious eight-room house or an economical five-room cottage. Plan HA490P also can fulfill the housing requirements of a family that knows future needs will require more space than present needs. Future space can be added at limited cost and almost negligible disturbance to the original home. The original plan includes two nice-size corner bedrooms, which are transformed into a parents' suite when the expansion second floor is added. Architect Samuel Paul, 89-30 151 St., Jamaica, N.Y., has designed HA 490P with 1,244 square feet, 174-square-foot family room, which can be added later, and 755-square-foot second-floor expansion.

Hackler to Answer G&F Critics

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Criticisms aimed at the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission will be answered March 28, according to Hugh Hackler, executive secretary of the commission.

The commission was recently criticized on the floor of the House about a $2 million budget surplus and about the failure to spend an increased license fee for buying additional recreational property. Hackler said he would appear before the Arkansas House State Agencies Committee at the invitation of Rep. James Linder of Helena. Hackler said, "There are a lot of things they (House members) won't know about the commission but they will all get informed on the 28th."

POPE WON'T ATTEND LONDON (AP) — Twenty-four cardinals and more than 80 bishops from all over the world are being invited for the opening ceremonies of Liverpool's new Roman Catholic Cathedral of Christ the King next Whit-Sunday (May 14). John Cardinal Heenan, who was Archbishop of Liverpool for six years before being made Archbishop of Westminster, will be Papal Legate. This appointment ends speculation that Pope Paul VI might himself attend the ceremonies.
